
Subject: Re: :_(x,y,z)_

Posted by David Fanning on Thu, 15 Mar 2007 19:20:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

inisi writes:

> The more I work with IDL the more it astonishes me

I just finished Bill Bryson's book, A Short History of Nearly Everything. This comment brings it to mind, because it was so refreshing to hear about science from a non-scientist's perspective. You do, truly, become astonished all over again!

It is always nice to know that this old friend we know so well can still do that to people coming to it for the first time. :-)

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
