

---

Subject: Re: Wasting Time with Books

Posted by Andrew Cool on Mon, 26 Mar 2007 09:38:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Mar 26, 11:33 am, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:

> Andrew Cool writes:

>> The only books I was really interested in started with "Play" and >> ended with "Boy."

>

> And, anyway, what is a 19 year old Aussie male doing > reading skin magazines when you can be down at the beach > ogling the real thing!?

>

>> Although I do remember meeting the first great passion of my Life on >> Feb 26th 1976,

>> at about 7:45 p.m., at approximately lat -34.917943. lon 138.601350

>

> Oh, oh. Did I mention my 19 year old son is coming to > Australia for a semester? (I may have overdone my enthusiasm > for Bondi Beach, now that I think about it.) Just don't be > telling him these kinds of stories if you run into him, ok,

> Andrew? I want him thinking about colorful birds, not > colorful women. :-(

>

> Cheers,

>

> David

Ah, just remember that Sydney pumps its raw sewerage into the sea off Bondi Beach.

Sealife isn't the only thing he'll find floating in the water... ;-)

Andrew

---