
Subject: Re: Why float is called as 'float', not 'real'?
Posted by kim20026 on Sat, 24 Mar 2007 08:22:04 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thank you David! And... Congratulations for your child's birthday...

Which wine are you drinking...? I worked in France as a Postdoctoral researcher for 1 and a half years. I am missing the smell of Bordeaux, but my favorite were sweet white wines such as Château du rayon, Sauterne, Monbazillac, etc. I was poor postdoc at that time and just enjoyed the (relatively) cheap wines with the price of 5 ~ 15 euros, but still they were Excellent!

Don't drink too much for your health, and have a nice weekend.

Harry
