
Subject: Re: beginner's help

Posted by Kenneth Bowman on Fri, 23 Mar 2007 18:16:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <1174673456.523345.15440@y66g2000hsf.googlegroups.com>, marksaulrosin@gmail.com wrote:

> Hi,
> I'm new to using IDL and unix and need to do something v.simple but > don't know how. I am creating a series of .dat files with a fortran > procedure that i'm running and i want to process them to create a > little video. I don't know what the syntax for doing this inside > a .idlbatch file is.
> Any help would be appreciated.
> Mark

There are some tips on making movies here

<http://idl.tamu.edu/mactips/movies.php>

These are mostly aimed at MacOS, but the concepts are generic.

Ken Bowman
