Hi Bill,

Using IDL_export.h is perfectly fine, but export.h should be in the directory above it (external).

I just upgraded to version 8 also and I still haven't figured out all the compiler flags. But get the program depends.exe from microsoft and open up your dll. It will highlite any dll's it can't find and tell you where it looked. However, I just checked and msvcr80.dll is in the system32 directory on my machine, so maybe copying yours there might help.
