Sorry about the multiple posts. Safari was messing up on me and told me that all of the postings failed.

I'm getting a trail version of FastDL and will be using it to make some benchmarks on my code. Your mileage may vary. I'm on travel for a week but when I get back I'll let you know how it goes.

I read the documentation and it seems very easy to use. So the issue is do you have money to pay for easy?

Have you done a search on this group for FastDL? There are a couple of threads worth looking at.

PS The sales person did get back with me and was apologetic for the time it took to respond.
