

---

Subject: RSS Feeds to Keep Up

Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 04 Jun 2007 14:43:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Folks,

I'm probably the last person in the world to realize this, but I attended a science writer's conference last week, where I learned that one GREAT way to keep up with what is going on in the world is to subscribe to the RSS feeds from your favorite news sources. (I thought this might be pertinent to those of you who are a certain age, if you know what I mean.)

In any case, I installed the Wizz RSS News Reader, which is available as an add-on feature to my Firefox browser and I have already figured out how to add a couple of hours of time-wasting into my busy schedule. Truly amazing, and WAY better than using bookmarks! Absolutely painless and easy to install and use.

To that end, I have updated my own web page with an RSS feed so people can easily see when content changes on the IDL Tips page. Just point your news accumulator to the main page to subscribe.

<http://www.dfanning.com/>

Cheers,

David

P.S. I've almost made up my mind to get a cell phone. I wonder what else is out there I have been missing. :-)

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")

---