
Subject: One Millionth Visitor

Posted by David Fanning on Wed, 27 Jun 2007 17:57:26 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Folks,

I am on track to have my one millionth page download, which I am considering my one millionth visitor because I have only been counting page loads for a year and a half, and if you multiply by the 12 years my page has been in business, I figure why not? Plus, it's neat and I can easily count it.

Anyway, this is probably going to occur sometime in the wee hours of the morning, Colorado time, and my guess is that someone from China or Singapore is going to be the lucky winner of the fabulous prizes still to be donated by ITTVIS. (I was hoping for a T-shirt, at least.)

It could, possibly, be someone from Australia, in which case, I am donating three days worth of free consulting for anyone with the cash to send me to Australia (with a stay-over in New Zealand) so I can visit my son, who is studying there starting in the middle of July. This is a prize worth at least $10K, or something like that.

Coyote will be donating some back copies of his calendar library (circa 1956) to the lucky winner.

Looking forward to the big celebration tomorrow!

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
