This newsgroup seems to be primarily focused on idl issues, despite its title. Our group already owns idl and is considering purchasing pvwave as well. Before we do so I want to learn what, if any, would be the advantages to owning both packages. I checked the idl faq and found only a history of the relationship between idl and pvwave, but no technical description of their differences. Is there a good reason to own both?

Thanks for your opinions,

Peter Sharer
