
Subject: Re: Problem with large .txt file
Posted by Haje Korth on Tue, 31 Jul 2007 16:27:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

set i ti i=0l (make it a long)

H.

<aleks.franca@gmail.com> wrote in message
news:1185897834.196562.301440@57g2000hsv.googlegroups.com...
> Hy there!
> I have a large txt file (6.384KB) with 65000 lines. It's very large.
> I need to open it, read every line, replace the spaces for commas, and > write the result in an output.txt
>
> The code is ok. The problem is that idl crashes on line 7208. There's > a memory problem there.
>
> Is there any way to do for all the lines of the txt file?? I don't > know how to deal with memory problems. Sorry!
>
> I'm doing like this
>
> :-----CUT HERE-----
> i=0
> line=""
> ; Open the text file:
> OPENR, inunit, '60mil_equal.txt', /GET_LUN
> ; Open the terminal as a file:
> OPENW, outunit, 'output.txt', /GET_LUN
> ;=====

```
> WHILE ~EOF(inunit) DO BEGIN >   READF, inunit, line >   line = STRJOIN(STRSPLIT(line, /EXTRACT), ', ') >   PRINTF, outunit, line
>   i =i+1
> ENDWHILE
>
> FREE_LUN, inunit
> FREE_LUN, outunit
>
> END
> :-----CUT HERE-----
>
> Thank you very much
>
```
