

---

Subject: Mort's Book

Posted by David Fanning on Fri, 24 Aug 2007 17:55:22 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Folks,

After using some of those hard-earn breathing techniques I have been learning in Tai-Chi to control my breath in the face of the onslaught of mathematical equations in Mort's book, it is growing on me. OK, I'm a simple guy, and I like things spelled out in a little more detail and in simpler language than is the case here, but the code is completely understandable. (And I dare you to TRY to write this code in one page in any other programming language!)

I'm finding a great deal of interest in this book, and I am having trouble putting it down to get some work done. :-)

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

---