
Subject: Re: read_tiff only looks in current working directory?

Posted by Jeff N. on Wed, 31 Oct 2007 22:05:36 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Oct 31, 6:01 pm, "Jeff N." <jnett...@utk.edu> wrote:

```
> Hi folks,
>
> A couple of times now i've run into a strange problem that i haven't > had time to pay much attention to until now. I'm simply trying to > read a tiff file with READ_TIFF, but this code fails:
>
> indir = 'g:\'
> infile = 'test.tif'
> inpath = indir + infile
>
> ;cd,indir
>
> indata=read_tiff(infile)
> help, indata
>
> It fails with a file not found error even though I know that the file > is in the location i'm specifying. Also, the error message prints out > the full path to the file it's looking for, and it is looking for the > correct file name, but the directory path it's looking in is always > the current working directory. So, if i uncomment the call to the CD > command above, the file gets read with no problem. Has anyone else > come across this? This isn't the way it's supposed to work is it?
>
> Jeff
```

BTW, I should add that I don't see this behavior with every tiff file I try to read. It appears sporadically, and with tiff files created by different means.
