
Subject: Re: Interactive drawing on plots (PV-Wave)

Posted by jlaw on Wed, 31 Jan 1996 08:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article 20J@netcom.com, mole@netcom.com (Aaron Birenboim) writes:

<snip>

- > I wish to allow the user to draw/define a box on a standard 1D plot.
- > Most people place one corner of the box at the point where a mouse
- > button was pressed, then draw & erase the box as the mouse moves, then
- > set the second corner then the button is released.

A routine that does this is (was?) distributed with IDL. Try and get hold of of the demo distribution. Its worth it for the user library.

I thought a similar routine came with pv-wave.. Have you had a GOOD look through the user library??

Essentially you are right. Drqaw the thing with XOR.

f.
