Subject: IDLdoc 3.0
Posted by Michael Galloy on Wed, 14 Nov 2007 20:25:17 GMT

IDLdoc 3.0 development is underway. This will be a complete rewrite starting from scratch, but will accept all the same comments markup from before. This time the source code will be open under a BSD-style license. The main new feature is the ability to accept multiple formats for the comments: the old IDLdoc style, the standard IDL template, and a new style (a bit easier on the eyes).

For more information, see:

  http://michaelgalloy.com/2007/11/01/idldoc-30-development-un derway.html

Particularly pay attention to the part about signing up for the mailing list if you want to be part of the beta program (i.e. I would like to be sure that IDLdoc 3.0 really does accept all the same comments markup that IDLdoc 2.0 did).

Mike
--
www.michaelgalloy.com
Tech-X Corporation
Software Developer II