Vince Hradil writes:

> Can't you just add the NSIDC directory under "Work"? I think there is > only one "level" of projects, i.e. you cannot nest projects in > projects (projects defined by the ide, that is), but you can have > subdirectories in each project (you can think of these as projects, I > guess, but the "real" project is at the "Work" level (includes > everything in the subdirectories).

I found a "Create Folder" option that allows me
to create folders in my Work project.

I think my real problem is I just can't get my mind
around the notion of what a "project" is and how it can possibly be on any benefit to me at the moment.
I'm clearly missing some big part of the picture. :-(

The idea of my path moving out from under me scares me to death.

Cheers,

David
--
David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")