> Your workspace folder should NOT be the same as your project folder.
> In fact, I get an error when I try that. I set up a workspace folder > on a network drive and created a new project from an existing folder > on a network drive - sorry I'm not getting the same errors. Are there > any "problems" in the Problems view?

I've set up a 'workspace' folder on the network drive and switched workspaces. I then proceeded to open a new project (on a network and local drive) and got the same error. For curiosity I tried selecting the 'create a new project in the workspace' radio button and I got the same error. I also tried setting up a workspace folder on the local drive and the same thing.

What exactly is the 'Workspace' and why should it be a separate folder?

Ryan.