Hi Allan,

I didn't realize that your driver existed.

I've been doing much that same, but using libpq++. I've been playing with large object support.

I tried using IDLdbDatabase. I found it difficult to get working and completely useless when I finally managed to write a query. The data type mapping was all wrong and I could not include quotes (') in my query. The error messages and segmentation faults were so cryptic that I gave up.
