IDLdoc 3.0 is ready! Highlights of this release:

  * IDLdoc 3.0 was rewritten from scratch to allow it to be released under an open source license. Source code is available from the project website.

  * There are multiple formats for entering comments: the normal IDLdoc style, the traditional IDL comment header, and new style based on restructured text.

  * Ability to do some simple formatting of comments without resorted to putting ugly HTML into your comments.

For more information about this release, see the project website
