Subject: Re: Conversion Between UTM and Lat/Lon Coordinates Posted by David Fanning on Sun, 20 Jan 2008 17:55:45 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

David Fanning writes:

- > I have a geoTiff image in a UTM projection. And I have
- > the corners and center of the image in UTM coordinates.
- > To put political boundaries on this image, I need to
- > create the proper UTM map projection space. In order
- > to do that, it seems to me, I need to know the center
- > of the map projection (or image) in latitude and longitude
- > space. (Since MAP_PROJ_INIT seems to require this.)

>

- > Therefore, it seems to me I need to convert my UTM
- > coordinates to lat/lon coordinates. I have found
- > JAVA applets on the Internet to do that, but it would
- > be nice to have a little IDL program to do it. Does
- > anyone have such a thing? Would you like me to publish
- > it on my web page so you can become famous? :-)

Uh, well... It seems IDL is already set up to do this. :-(

Here is an article that describes how:

http://www.dfanning.com/map_tips/utm_to_ll.html

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")