Hello

I'm a newcomer to this newsgroup, though I have some previous experience with the Usenet :-). Having started using PV-Wave (v.4) , I found it to be a very convinient tool for my work (processing the signal received from the ITALSAT satellite and extracting the information about phase and amplitude instabilities). I've also found that the Usenet might be very usefull, if you want to get help from the people who know some particular subject better than you do. Having said all this, I'd like to ask you:

1. Is there a FAQ for this group?
2. Are there any archives on the Web (like simple receipts, FFT routines, etc..)
3. Would it be a good idea to have a "PV-Wave users page" on the WWW, where one could find an information about the people who are working in the same area, and, hence, get help and escape re-inventing a bike?

Thanks
