Hi Dave,

If you wait a few seconds (say 5), do the IDL windows eventually go away by themselves?

In IDL 7.0, if the IDL Workbench goes away, then the IDL out-of-process (OPS) should wake up and notice that the Workbench is gone, and then finally shut itself down. This should take down your graphics windows. However, there is currently a bug where sometimes the IDL OPS can hang during shutdown, and then nothing will exit.

This should be fixed in the next IDL Workbench update.

Cheers,
Chris
