No, no. I thought you were just having a little fun. But I am too old, apparently, to play three hours of tennis of an evening and then still be in a good mood in the morning. And it was a particularly lame post on my part, but it had been bugging me, and there the solution was in front of me all the time. Embarrassing. So there was that...:-)

I'm just going to go chew a few more Ibuprofen.

Cheers,

David
