
Subject: Re: Inconsistency displaying IDLgrROI
Posted by rtowler on Thu, 10 Apr 2008 17:29:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Apr 10, 10:24 am, Bill Triplett wrote:

- > The sample of code below is supposed to convert some data to an IDLgrROI
- > and then display it. The STYLE=0 keyword is supposed to cause the object
- > to be rendered as a series of points.
- >
- > This works well when I am connected to the workstation through a VNC
- > session; however when working directly on the machine's console, it
- > appears that the STYLE keyword is ignored, and the object is rendered as
- > though it were a IDLgrPOLYLINE.
- >
- > Does anyone what would cause this behavior? I am somewhat new to object
- > graphics, but am learning quickly.

Just a guess, but remove the ALPHA_CHANNEL keyword. Does that make a difference?

-Rick
