Subject: Re: problem with display the data
Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 05 May 2008 12:33:40 GMT

Magic.Zhou@gmail.com writes:

> en... I am doing the segmentation of a image, the final matrix is > double 256*256, some values in the matrix are quite small such as > 0.000089 and the biggest value is 255.00000, is there any specific way > to display this grey picture?
> i mean not use tv or tvscl common > the problem is that the result I display is not correct but my data I > gather is right, can this happen?

XSTRETCH will give you 8-10 different ways to stretch the data for display. One of those is certain to work (assuming this is a display problem).

  http://www.dfanning.com/programs/xstretch.zip

Cheers,

David
--
David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")