
Subject: Re: animated png: a new format for scientific animations
Posted by Kenneth P. Bowman on Wed, 21 May 2008 19:10:05 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article

<9cad603-0d6a-4881-b33b-52c25e194bba@59g2000hsb.googlegroups.com>, pgrigis@gmail.com wrote:

- > The web page show the animated png and 3 quicktime
- > movies of increasing quality (and file size!).
- >
- > <http://hea-www.harvard.edu/~pgrigis/scianim/index.html>

It has been possible to make QuickTime movies using PNG compression for quite a while. On a Mac or PC you can do it with QuickTime Pro ($30) Graphic Converter (Mac only, $30), or other utilities.

Here's an example

http://start.tamu.edu/research_flights/rf04/start08_rf04.mov

Ken Bowman
