> On the note of color range, is there really no 'true color' > colortable? Not that my eye can really distinguish better than about > 30 colors on a screen, but I would have expected there to be 16 and 24 > bit color tables, not just 8 bit.

Nevermind. I found out that true color is certainly possible for idl image display. device,true_color=24 should do it.

Adam