
Subject: Re: ISOLatin1 fonts, Postscript and PV-Wave
Posted by korpela on Wed, 03 Apr 1996 08:00:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article <315FECD4.6FF2@ume.foa.se>,
Erik Naslund <naslund@ume.foa.se> wrote:

> Hi there,
> are you tired of not being able to produce all those weird letters > (ASCII 128-255) that Europeans use (even though your printer supports > it)?

> I added an encoding segment to WAVE_PROLOG.PS that takes care of the > problem

Won't a "DEVICE,/ISO_LATIN1" do the same thing with less trouble?

--

Eric Korpela | An object at rest can never be korpela@ssl.berkeley.edu | stopped.
<<http://www.cs.indiana.edu/finger/mofo.ssl.berkeley.edu/korpe la/w>">
Click here for more info.
