
Subject: Re: simple FORMAT question for the experts

Posted by Ryan on Mon, 14 Jul 2008 14:25:54 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

> I may be misunderstanding what you're trying to do, but when I type this:

>

> array = ['a','b','c','d','e']

> print, 1S, 'Text', array, FORMAT='(I02, " ", A0, " :", 99(A0, :, ", "))'

>

> I get this:

>

> 01 Text :a,b,c,d,e

Hi Steve,

That does give me what I need by putting an arbitrarily large number in front of it but I have already modified it so it will print the exact number of array elements. I like your solution because it is much simpler than what I currently have.

Thanks,
Ryan.
