
Subject: Re: % Program caused arithmetic error: Floating illegal operand Posted by Kenneth P. Bowman on Fri, 08 Aug 2008 20:24:58 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

In article

<c819955d-5530-4046-a7af-57541b485af1@m73g2000hsh.googlegroups.com>, neon <neon37@gmail.com> wrote:

> Hi,
> I am having trouble figuring out where this warning message originates > in my code. I know this message comes when you have NaNs in the data > that you are manipulating. But the thing is the code i'm dealing with > is pretty huge and I'm having trouble isolating the cause. Does anyone > know of a way to figure out the line number where this warning message > is originating from? It would save me quite a bit of time.
> Thanks
> --
> Nirbhik

See the !EXCEPT system variable. (Set !EXCEPT = 2)

Ken Bowman
