yes, everything looks pretty strange on their site, like they discontinued it, and didn't tell anybody.

The quick reference is there, etc.

It is still there in the price list on their website:

"Download ION, IDL On the Net, brings the power of IDL visualization, applications, and graphics to the Internet. Using the latest JavaT and Web technology, ION communicates your visual analysis in a dynamic environment to virtually any computer in the world, whether it's part of a public Web server, a proprietary intranet, or both. ION is included with the IDL 6.0 download."

Thanks,
