
Subject: Re: animation_image_doc.pro

Posted by David Fanning on Mon, 25 Aug 2008 19:47:01 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Mike Potter writes:

> I'm currently evaluating IDL and am working through the various > examples in the documentation. I have tried the procedure
> "animation_image_doc.pro" and it does not seem to work. It complies > without error or comment, but the window it displays is blank. Other > animation examples (most notably "animation_doc.pro", which uses the > same data set) work just fine. So, since I'm using > "animation_image_doc.pro" as a way to learn about animating a set of > images I'd like to know if others are able to get this to work or > whether it's just something strange about my setup.
>
> running IDL version 7.0.3 in evaluation mode > Windows XP home with all updates installed.

What happens if you set DEVICE, DECOMPOSED=0 before you run the demo?

Cheers,

David

P.S. Where are you finding this example?

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.

Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.

Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: <http://www.dfanning.com/>

Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")
