

---

Subject: Re: QUESTION: is there a command in idl which could clean up memory pieces?

Posted by litongmu on Wed, 22 Oct 2008 05:58:13 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

On Oct 21, 6:27 pm, RussellGrew <russell.g...@gmail.com> wrote:

- > Do you really need all the CDF's open at once?
- >
- > Do you require all 5000 records from a given CDF or can you be more
- > selective?
- >
- > Can you not open a CDF, get the data you need, process it, close the
- > cdf, open the next one [using the same variables as before]... etc?
- >
- > Cheers.

That is how I did it. Sorry I did not express myself clearly. I deal with the files one by one. And in every file, there are about 5000 records. However, when it came to certain amount, the code stopped. Sorry for the confusion.

---