
Subject: Re: DLM unload

Posted by olmeca on Wed, 29 Oct 2008 02:16:57 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Finally i've found a solution, it isn't clean nor portable but for my objectives works.

I've made a "dml_wrapper" DLM, so that dlm (that it's loaded 1 time) load the method of the dlm that i want to debug. Here's the code it works on OSX (and should work on linux) and loads functions.

On Oct 27, 5:14 pm, olm...@gmail.com wrote:

> Unfortunately that's doesn't work because dlms are loaded different.

>

> I think that there must be a way to unload a dlm, if not debugging

> it's way too painful.

>

> Thanks anyway.

> Felipe

>

> On Oct 22, 5:42 pm, Robbie <ret...@iinet.net.au> wrote:

>

>> I don't know about DLMs, but if you manually load the library using

>> CALL_EXTERNAL(Image,/UNLOAD) then it should do what you want.

>

>> Cheers,

>

>> Robbie

>

>