Subject: Question about use?
Posted by Corey Leopold on Wed, 05 Jun 1996 07:00:00 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

We are looking for a way to take a sterographic photo of an injury as it heals. What we want to do is to develop a 3d representation of the injury and determine the volume of the wound. Would idl be a good development platform for this kind of application, and how would one go about doing this.

Thanks

Corey

Programmer Analyist Assistant II
Department of Anesthesiology
UT Health Science Center at San Antonio
E-mail: corey@aries.uthscsa.edu