
Subject: Re: IDL Virtual Machine--Forget It
Posted by R.Bauer on Thu, 30 Oct 2008 11:34:37 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

David Fanning schrieb:

> Folks,
>
> Maybe you, like me, saw the IDL Virtual Machine as a way > to get IDL more noticed by writing IDL applications that > you could give away to colleagues, who could download the > freely available IDL Virtual Machine to run them. Well, > think again.
>
> I just got off the phone to IDL Technical Support.
> According to the representative I talked to, this > "might have worked this way in IDL 6.3, but it doesn't > work this way now." Now, apparently, the only way > to get the Virtual Machine is to install the entire > IDL distribution.
>
> But, it is worse than this, because the only way
> someone who doesn't currently have an IDL license > can install the IDL Virtual Machine is to have the > actual IDL DVD Installation Disk. This is primarily > because you can't get to the IDL Download page without > having an official log-in.
>
> Of course, your colleague will have to have the > correct distribution CD for his machine (or someone > with a license will have to have downloaded the correct > distribution from the web page and given it to him).
>
> In short, forget about the idea of packaging your neat > application up on a CD-ROM with the IDL Virtual Machine > and handing it out to colleagues to use. Ain't gonna > happen no more.
>
> Another useful idea sacrificed to the gods of bells and > whistles.
>
> Cheers,
>
> David

seems they fixed the security flaw of their website
