On Oct 31, 5:45 pm, David Fanning <n...@dfanning.com> wrote:
> Folks,
>
> Another Mac question. Somehow I got the IDL Workbench behind > the "Apple" bar at the top. Now I can't move the darn thing, > or even close it. I have the same problem when the program > gets resized and the resizing point on the lower-right of > the window goes behind the application icons on the bottom.
> How to cope?
>
> Thanks,
>
> David
>
> P.S. Of course, the Workbench knows where it is suppose to > come up now, so it's, uh, sort of useless to me. :-(
> --
> David Fanning, Ph.D.
> Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
> Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming:http://www.dfanning.com/
> Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")

Another solution exists if you're using Spaces in 10.5: The F8 key will bring up the overview of your 'spaces' and at that point you can drag a window around to your heart's content. I do this all the time when the top of a window gets stuck under the menu bar, which happens when I shift between different configurations of monitors with my laptop.
-Henry