Subject: Re: IDL and Ubuntu 8.10 (Intrepid Ibex)
Posted by R.Bauer on Mon, 10 Nov 2008 09:05:38 GMT

prm schrieb:
> Hi folks,
>
> I have recently made a fresh install of Ubuntu 8.10, and I have found > to my surprise that Eclipse (idlde) and maybe other components of IDL > don't work at all (for instance, idldemo).
>
> The solution is quite simple. Ubuntu comes with a standard C++ library > (libstdc++) with a major number of 6, while IDL needs the version with > a major number of 5. Just install it (for instance from Synaptic).
>
> I hope no one else wastes more time than I did with this...
>
> Pablo Rodrï¿½guez.

I did also and I filed a bug report to creaso/ittvis.

It is a pain with this non packaged program. It happens quite often that a dependency is given which you don't know. Last time it was a incompatible xorg-x11-libs version. idl crashed always if you run tv.

cheers
Reimar