Subject: Re: AVIs for the Mac
Posted by Dan Larson on Tue, 18 Nov 2008 23:25:53 GMT

On Nov 18, 9:40 am, "M. Katz" <MKatz...@yahoo.com> wrote:
> If you post a link to one of your AVI files, then you could ask Mac > users to try to view it. Not everyone will have the same codecs > installed, and some of us could try an 'out of the box' Mac > installation.
> -M

Thanks Rick, I will try those suggestions. Since you don't mention uncompressed AVIs, except for use in Quicktime Pro, I assume the Quicktime freeware doesn't like them? i.e. is it always safer to use some kind of codec?

And, just for kicks, I posted the movie (uncompressed AVI) on an FTP site if any mac users want to give it a go :-)

dan