David,

If you ever figure out how to do this, even if not perfectly, could you write an article? I have to write software for the VM that runs on UNIX/PC/Mac and when I tell people they have to download the VM (which as far as I know still requires creating an account, logging in, giving email address, etc) it can be a real deal breaker. The threshold is too high.

Thanks,
frank