Subject: Re: Compiling errors
Posted by Jean H. on Wed, 17 Dec 2008 12:37:16 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

loebasboy wrote:
> I have a procedure where i use a self written function in. If I > compile the procedure and then type in the command line the following:
>
> .reset_session
> resolve_all
>
> all dependent functions are compiled. Then if i try to run the > procedure I get an error on the line where i use the self written > function:
>
> % Keyword parameters not allowed in call.
>
> I've rewritten the function some time ago with different input > parameters as a result. If I then compile the self written function > manually, everything works.

is it a system function?
Do you still have the old one in your path? ... I have found IDL7 to use the dumbest file it could (like function_backup.pro will be used before function.pro)

> What seems to be the problem here? Am I doing something wrong here, > apart for rewriting the function.
>
> Also, if I use 'resolve_all' with IDL + ENVI on, i get alot of errors, > with being the first:
>
> % Attempt to call undefined procedure/function: 'ADAPT_FILT_EVENT'.
>
>
> What am I doing wrong?

Nothing, resolve_all calls all (really all of them?) Envi functions when Envi is open... nothing to worry about!

Jean