Subject: Re: creating dynamic array
Posted by David Fanning on Tue, 06 Jan 2009 22:55:29 GMT

nakisa writes:

> I have a file of data of > x,y,L .
>
> I need to compare of L with a fix value and plot (x,y) with less " L "
> with one color and the other (x,y) with other color.
>
> The problem is I need to compare L ,then store the x and y s in new > variable , for example new_1 and new2 ,then plot them.
>
> Fro this plot, I think the only way is to store data in array. but I > need dynamic array and I don't know how can I create dynamic array ?

I'm guessing the WHERE function might be your friend.

  IDL> ? where

Cheers,

David

--
David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")