Folks,

At a programmer's meeting yesterday I learned that Usenet
newsgroups are "completely passe, 1970's technology".
Naturally, I was totally chagrined to learn that I was,
once again, the last one to know this. :-(

Anyway, it offers a possible explanation for why the holdouts here think the old IDL was a hell of a lot better than the new IDL.

Do you suppose we could breath new life into the ol'
lady if we moved her over to Facebook?

Cheers,

David
