David Fanning writes:

> I probably should tell you how I solved this, although > God knows I could probably get rich if I kept it to > myself. Goes against my nature though, and, anyway, > I'm storing up karma for the next life. Maybe I can > be a Matlab expert. ;-)

By the way, if this kind of detective work appeals to the younger programmers lurking about, I HIGHLY recommend you go get the book Desert Notes/River Notes by Barry Lopez and read the story Directions. That is what it is always about with me!

   http://tinyurl.com/n23xbb

Cheers,

David

--
David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")