Subject: Re: hashmap in idl Posted by David Fanning on Tue, 21 Jul 2009 12:30:43 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

b.a writes:

- > Thanks. HashTable is exactly what I want and I gone through the
- > relevant page for that. But still I can't write even a simple code to
- > actually use hashTable. I mean I am confused about the syntax. Is it
- > like I have to define each method in a separate program and then call
- > them from main?
- > I also tried the following which is the example provided, but no
- > progress.

>

> pro test

>

- > mylist = Obj_New("LINKEDLIST", 5)
- > mylist->Add, 10
- > mylist->Add, 7, 1, /Before
- > mylist->Add, 12
- > print, mylist->Get_Item(/All, /Deref)
- > mylist->Replace Item, 1, 'Bob'
- > mylist->Help
- > mylist->Delete
- > mylist->Help, /Print

>

> end

I'm not sure I understand you question. This example works perfectly, as far as I can tell. Is something else happening for you?

Cheers,

David

--

David Fanning, Ph.D.
Fanning Software Consulting, Inc.
Coyote's Guide to IDL Programming: http://www.dfanning.com/
Sepore ma de ni thui. ("Perhaps thou speakest truth.")