
Subject: Re: Update PostScript

Posted by Lasse Clausen on Tue, 21 Jul 2009 11:17:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On 20 July, 17:46, FÖLDY Lajos <fo...@rmki.kfki.hu> wrote:

> On Mon, 20 Jul 2009, Xavi Lloret wrote:

>> Hi everybody!

>

>> I have an easy question... Can I open a PostScript file to include a >> new plot in it, without erasing the current information?

>

>> For example, I create a PostScript in a given routine, and later on, I >> want to include a new plot -in the same PS file- in an other routine.

>

>> Thank you very much!

>

> In IDL, no. In Linux, you can merge PS files with:

>

> gs -dNOPAUSE -sDEVICE=pswrite -sOutputFile=out.ps file1.ps file2.ps ... -c quit

>

> regards,

> lajos

Hi,

just as a side note, that also works under Windows if you use

```
gswin32c -dNOPAUSE -sDEVICE=pswrite -sOutputFile=out.ps file1.ps
file2.ps ... -c quit
```

Cheers

Lasse Clausen
