Subject: discover SDS of HDF with GUI
Posted by sophie.hoss on Fri, 17 Jul 2009 09:31:21 GMT

hello everybody,

it seems my brain has suffered severe memory loss.. About a year ago, I was able to open a hdf-file with one simple command (it must have been a built-in routine in IDL), and a GUI popped up displaying all the SDS the file contained (I just need to know how that one stupid SDS I'm trying to display later is called exactly) Now, a year later, I have not a clue what that command was, and I can't find it anywhere.
any help for the doting ones among us is appreciated :)
cheers
