We have an hp color x-terminal and hp 9000/700 work station and we are planning on installing idl on it (the decision has not been made).

We also have many black-white (grey level) xterminals attached to the HP server. Now suppose we create an idl output with all kinds of color and many varieties of color. Can we display it on the grey-level x-terminals? Will there be some default translation of color to grey level or will we get frustrating error messages and no display?

Thanks.
