
Subject: Re: oplot with colours

Posted by b.a on Fri, 31 Jul 2009 04:08:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

On Jul 31, 1:29 pm, "b.a" <u4565...@anu.edu.au> wrote:

> Hi,
>
> I am writing a program (using IDL workbench) and I have two questions > about plotting data. I appreciate if anyone can help.
>
> 1) In my program, I need to plot several data on the same draw window.
> I know that oplot does this but even for the first curve, I don't want > to use plot. Is there anyway that I ignore having plot for the first > one and then using oplot?
>
> 2) For each curve, I want to have different colour and on the draw > window, I need to show that each colour represents which curve.
>
> Thank you
> Afra

I also want to remove the plot by clicking on a button. do we have anything like "diplot" to remove the selected curve?
