Subject: Re: use ENVI+IDL together
Posted by jameskuyper on Thu, 27 Aug 2009 10:58:18 GMT

Nicolas wrote:
> Hi everyone,
>
> I have written a code in IDL which interacts with ENVI. The code works > fine on a Windows system but I need to run it on an Linux system.
>
> Is there a possibility on Linux to start ENVI+IDL together like in the > Windows system with the "envi_idl.exe" file? Until now, with the Linux > system, I can only start ENVI and IDL seperately which means that they > can't interact together.

On the Linux systems where I work, I simply type 'envi' at the command line; the ENVI gui pops up, while the normal IDL start-up message appears in the terminal window, followed by the usual IDL prompt. I can then issue any IDL commands I want in the terminal window; I presume that I can interact with ENVI in that windows, though I've never actually tried it.