Hello,

Does anyone know if either IDL or PV-WAVE has built-in facilities or if there exist user-developed routines for doing or supporting imaging? By "imaging" I mean more than just displaying images, I also mean combining data from multiple receivers and constructing images as in interferometry, holography and tomography. Such routines might be used in the areas of optical and radio astronomy, radar or medical imaging (ultrasound).

Are there other software packages I should consider? I am aware of the AIPS, IRAF and MIDAS packages.
